Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) is a federally funded dietary supplement and nutrition education program. It serves pregnant and nursing women, infants under one year, and children up to the age of five, who are at risk due to inadequate nutrition. Run in Cuyahoga County by MetroHealth System, the program operates 22 nutrition education program sites and serves more than 35,000 participants each month throughout Cuyahoga County. Why the WIC program is important WIC is an effective proven health care program. The NATIONAL WIC Assessment, conducted by the Triangle Research Institute in Raleigh, North Carolina, and Dr. David Rush of Albert Einstein College of Medicine at Yeshiva University in New York City, which was released on January 10, 1986, show that WIC has a significant impact on the health of the mother and child. The findings indicate significant health benefits for WIC participants, including the following: WIC helps pregnant women see doctors earlier, and increases the number of women receiving timely prenatal care participation WIC improves pregnancy duration and weight birth participation WIC reduces late fetal deaths WIC improves the diets of women and children WIC participation leads to increased head circumference (reflecting brain growth) of infants whose mothers receive WIC during pregnancy WIC children are better immunized, and are more likely to have a regular source of health care, and to do better on vocabulary scores Improves pregnancy outcomes by providing services and/or appropriately sending patients to the support services needed for long-term pregnancies Reduces infant mortality by decreasing the incidence of low-weight infants at birth. (Newborns weighing less than 5.2 kilograms are at greater risk of respiratory problems, brain damage and physical abnormalities) Provides infants and children with a healthy start in life by combating poor and/or inadequate diets What the WIC program provides additional nutritional education, highly nutritious foods, such as infant formulae fortified with iron, milk, eggs, and peanut butter Referral to prenatal and pediatric health care and other programs of maternal and child health services (e.g. Medicaid and Food stamps) Who is eligible for the WIC program pregnant and women breastfeeding women who have recently had a baby Infants (birth at 12 months) Children (one to five years) Resident of Cuyahoga County, or receiving healthcare in the county Determined by medical staff to be at Medical/Nutritional Risk Income – 185% of Federal Poverty Income Guidelines (call the nearest WIM office for a personalized income assessment) Family Size of weekly hours annual 2 $539 $2,353 $27,991 4,20.53 $821 $3,554 $42,643Justar tamaño game of pantalla 100% Resetear Hecho WIC Clinics OH WIC Locations Cleveland Clinics WIC Office This WIC office, Hough Health Center WIC Ohio, is located in Cleveland Ohio.
